Two Luxury Collection hotels celebrate 100th Anniversary

2009 marks the historic Palace Hotel's 100th anniversary. On December 15, 1909 the Palace Hotel re-opened its doors, completely rebuilt after the devastation of the April 18, 1906 great quake of San Francisco. Since its 1909 reopening, the Palace has remained the Grand Dame of San Francisco sharing its many treasures with the loyal citizens of San Francisco and visitors from around the world. Among the magical creations of 1909 are The Garden Court and The Pied Piper of Hamelin mural. The Garden Court features a $7 million dollar stained-glass dome and serves as the Palace's main dining room. The Pied Piper of Hamelin mural was created in 1909 for the hotel by Maxfield Parrish and is displayed in the Pied Piper Bar. The hotel has hosted several Presidents, royalty from several continents, well known politicians and celebrities.

THE US GRANT, a Luxury Collection Hotel, prepares to celebrate its 100th anniversary in 2010. Named for President Ulysses S. Grant, the hotel was opened by his son Ulysses S. Grant, Jr. THE US GRANT has become an icon in San Diego with the vibrant downtown scene growing up around it. In 2006, the hotel underwent a $58 million renovation that included historic restoration, entirely new furniture and a plethora of commissioned art giving the historic gem a modern look while preserving its rich history.

Keizersgracht 238 Restaurant at Hotel Pulitzer

In September 2009 the inspiring Hotel Pulitzer, a Luxury Collection hotel, presents its new restaurant and concept. The restaurant entrance can be found at a unique spot, overlooking one of Amsterdam's most famous canals, the Keizersgracht, where the restaurant is also named after: Keizersgracht 238. Serving the freshest of local and imported meats, poultry and seafood the concept represents an upscale modern grill restaurant inviting those inspired by outstanding products. The dishes are grilled on both a lava stone grill and a big green EGG barbeque, which adds an outstanding extra grill flavor to the products.

Grilling is the past, the present and the future.
